

PHOENIX MOVES TO LARGO, MD

For Immediate Release – September 30, 2006

Washington, DC -- Phoenix International, Inc., (Phoenix) is pleased to announce the relocation of its Landover, Maryland facility to new spaces in Largo, Maryland. The continued growth of government and commercial business necessitated the move into a 100,000 sq. ft. office and warehouse complex located near the Largo Metro station, and approximately 10 miles east of downtown Washington, D.C.

The move accommodates a significant increase in staff and the equipment maintenance and housing requirements of Phoenix's existing U.S. Navy and commercial contracts. The facility also provides abundant assembly space for several major engineering development projects. Phoenix was recently awarded the re-competition of the Navy's Undersea Operations contract by which it operates and maintains the Nation's most comprehensive and sophisticated capabilities in underwater search and recovery to water depths of 6,000 meters. In addition to the new complex, Phoenix maintains offices in Norfolk, Virginia; Bayou Vista, Louisiana; Houston, Texas; and Honolulu, Hawaii, and has a presence in San Diego, California.

Company President, Michael Kutzleb, stated the new facility "... allows us to better respond to the dynamic marketplace we are experiencing. We are now able to provide the room essential to our growing engineering division and the warehouse space needed for on-going large systems integration projects. The expanded space also facilitates the conduct of operations in the same highly efficient manner our customers have grown to expect of us. The new Largo facility will prove to be of significant benefit to our Navy customers, and to the future growth of Phoenix".

Phoenix International, Inc., is now located at 9301 Largo Drive West, Largo, MD, 20774. The company conducts complex manned and unmanned underwater operations worldwide.
